Alcohol Policy IMPORTANT!

a. Prohibited Areas: The possession and consumption of alcohol in common areas of the building is strictly prohibited. This includes all areas on the first, second and twentieth floors. It also includes the elevator lobbies, lounges, and hallways on floors 4-19. Finally, any area in Cornish Commons is considered a prohibited area for the possession and consumption of alcohol, regardless of age.

b. Permissible Areas: Possession and consumption of alcoholic beverages is only allowed in residential rooms. Only individuals aged 21 years or older may consume alcoholic beverages or be present while alcohol is being consumed.

While residential rooms are generally considered a private area, anytime a residential room door is open or an individual is present that is under the age of 21 years, the space becomes a common area where alcohol is prohibited and no longer allowed to be consumed regardless of age.

When alcohol is being brought into the building by a resident that is 21 years of age or older, it must be concealed in a way that other members of the community are unable to see it until it is in their private room.

c. Loud & Disruptive Behavior: Any behavior that is loud and disruptive to the Cornish Commons community and is related to the consumption of alcohol (regardless of where the alcohol was consumed) is a violation of the alcohol policy. These incidents will be addressed the same as those found or suspected to be in possession of alcohol.

d. Minor in Possession of Alcohol: A minor in possession of alcohol includes, but is not limited to anyone that is not

21 years of age or older:

- being physically in possession of an alcoholic beverage (including but not limited to beer, wine, or spirits);
- being in possession of alcohol by consumption, even if the alcohol was not consumed in Cornish Commons;
- being in the presence of others that are drinking alcohol, even if those individuals are of age.

e. Violations of the Cornish Commons Alcohol Policy: Any individual that is alleged to have violated the alcohol policy will immediately be reported to Cornish College of the Arts (CCA) conduct review team. If an individual is found responsible for violating the alcohol policy, the CCA conduct review team will make a determination concerning continued residency.

January 25, 2019

Any individual found responsible for furnishing alcohol to minors will be removed from Cornish Commons immediately and all information relating to the incident will be forwarded to the Seattle Police Department.
